

Imogen Foulkes Correspondent

BBC Geneva

- Position: 2004 – present: BBC Geneva Correspondent, radio and television, news and features on United Nations and on Switzerland
- Education: 1974-1977: Wallace High School, Stirling, Scotland
1978-1982: University of Edinburgh, MA Honours (2nd) in English Language and Literature
1983-1984: Recipient of Elizabeth Tuckerman Foundation Scholarship to Stanford University (California). One year postgraduate course (Masters) in Documentary Film Production, Department of Communication.
- Professional experience: 1992 – 2004: Correspondent (part time), Swiss Radio International 1994 - 2004: Freelance correspondent – Switzerland, BBC Radio and Television
1999 – present: Freelance moderation of conferences and workshops. Clients include SDC and UBS.
1990 - 1992: Journalist, Newsroom, Swiss Radio International
1988 - 1990: Researcher, Documentary Department Grampian Television, Aberdeen, Scotland
1985-1988: Film and news editor, Grampian Television
- Awards: 2001: Gold Medal, New York Festival for Radio Feature “Lynx in the Swiss Alps”
2001: Finalist, New York Festival Radio News Programme: “People in Europe”

LIECHTENSTEIN DIALOGUE
on the future
of financial markets

Liechtenstein Dialogue
Städtle 49
9490 Vaduz
Liechtenstein
Tel +423 236 6036
office@dialogue.li
www.dialogue.li

1999: Finalist Prix Suisse for Radio Series "Bosnia: Peace Trauma"

1994: Finalist, Prix Suisse, for Radio Documentary "Whose Life, Which Life?"

